

Improve how you manage, share and view information across company groups

As a distribution or manufacturing organization, if you have multiple companies in your group which need to manage data across finance, sales and inventory, you will recognize these challenges:

“We need to be more efficient and effective in the way we synchronize master data from our main company to sub companies. Daily tasks such as creating a new Item has to be repeated manually across all companies, it is time consuming and input mistakes can occur.”

“To support multiple areas in our business decision-making, we need to see a direct view of the global balance of our customers or vendors across our company group. Take inventory for example, we need to see current stock in a sister company for a product without continually switching the system each time.”

The Master Data Sharing accelerator for Microsoft Dynamics 365 Business Central helps extend existing functionality and removes the need for double entry and lack of real-time visibility
