

Improve productivity and integrate supply chain best practice in your inventory management processes

Whether you are a warehouse manager, or responsible for finance, procurement and sales where you need to have more integration with inventory, you will recognize these challenges:

"As a Warehouse Manager, it can be an admin burden in order to maintain our SSCC management best practice, we need to adhere to this industry standard as we deal with an international supply chain and it makes everything run much smoother. However, we have to switch outside of Business Central to manage it."

"Our finance and warehouse teams have to make several steps when physical stock is updated for a location code, and we have to manually update item ledger entries to reflect the change. It's a common and repeated process that needlessly takes up time."

The Warehouse Management accelerator for Microsoft Dynamics 365 Business Central helps extend existing inventory features and remove the need for double admin and switching between several processes and third party systems.

Why choose Prodware to support your inventory process needs in Dynamics 365 Business Central?

As a Microsoft Gold partner and a sector specialist across the supply chain, Prodware has developed and implemented Dynamics 365 projects across Europe.

Our experienced R&D team work closely with our clients to develop additional functionalities that suit their needs to boost best practice, productivity and agility.

Warehouse Management extends standard Dynamics 365 Business Central functionality in these key areas:

- Move Bin content: easily move the entire contents of a Bin to another Bin, rather than item by item
- Enhancement on physical inventory processes: synchronized physical inventory and item ledger updates with the help of automation
- SSCC Management: users can manage SSCC numbers in the shipment process of Business Central (SSCC number generation, assign SSCC number to shipment documents and print labels with SSCC information)

Contact Prodware to help you remain agile, accurate and productive when managing warehouse processes without impacting on the time of your workers and the patience of your supply chain.
